

College of Business

COB Distinguished Researcher Award

The College of Business will offer a research award for tenured faculty members (associate and full professors) in order to encourage their efforts in research. The amount of each award is $1,000. The Intellectual Contributions Committee's Criteria for the award is outlined below.

Nomination Process

- Faculty members may be nominated each year until winning the award. Faculty members may nominate themselves or be nominated by other faculty members including the Department Head.

Eligibility

- Once a faculty member has received the research award, he/she will not be eligible for two years following the award.

Criteria

- The criteria for receiving the award is the level of research productivity over the last calendar year and the quality of the research produced.